Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Wednesday 12 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
A wet night for many with further showers tomorrow.

This Evening and Tonight:
An east to west split in the weather for the southwest with some persistent, and at times heavy, spells of rain across eastern counties this evening and overnight. In contrast, a drier night is expected for Cornwall. Minimum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Thursday:
A wet morning for most with the rain becoming lighter and patchier by the afternoon as it clears away. Scattered afternoon showers in the northeast. Staying largely dry for Cornwall. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Unsettled throughout. Scattered showers and sunny intervals on Friday. An early band of rain on Saturday with following showers persisting into Sunday. Generally light winds, although breezier on Saturday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.